Prologue

Before us stretches vast and wide,
For years and miles on every side,
The audience of our play.
Our stage is all the campus fair,
And men and women everywhere,
Can hear the things we say.
What wonder, if as we proceed,
In humble fear as is our need,
To show the play to you,
We fail to make its beauties fair,
With wit and wisdom everywhere!
We can but make it true.

SARA STORM APPLEBY

GLEN COVE, L. I., N. Y.

"Saps"

Is that a girl with a wig?

No, that is only Sara Appleby, at an angle of 45° ambling down the hall.

Has she just combed her hair?

No, she has just played two hockey games, been in four rough-houses, and is now coming from a D. A. S. feed.

Is she having a race with a snail?

No, she is hastening after her "wife" to bid her a fond good-night.

GRACE MARIE ATKINSON, Γ Φ Β

LANSDOWNE, PA.

A cold winter morning; a long gray coat; a big black hat; a phalanx of report papers waving in the wind.

Thus Grace, faithful to History and Dr. Hull, plods up the Asphaltum every morning. She spends most of her time in the past but came to life one day with a vengeance when she had to dress her "wife" three times in succession.

EDITH ROSELLE BANER

BEESLEY'S POINT, N. J.

There's a little brown-eyed Missy
Who lives up on Junior Hall,
And faithful every Monday night
She's sure to come and call.
With a funny little giggle,
Yet a quite persistent way
She demands two cents from each one
For Y. W. C. A.

HELEN BERNSHOUSE, K A Θ

HAMMONTON, N. J.

"Hefty"

Who is this smiling person, you ask? This, my dear friends, is Helen Bernshouse, or begging your pardon, Hefty. I should say. Why is she called Hefty, you ask? That I will leave to your imagination, but just gaze on her picture more closely. Is she an advertisement for Mme. Pompadour's beauty parlor, you ask? No, she is only a poor damsel who was unfortunate enough to have scarlet fever and thus leave the best class that ever entered Swarthmore College, and, speaking of scarlet fever, my dear friends, just look in our number of life and you will discover a picture which is quite characteristic of Hefty's illness.

WILLIAM MARTZ BEURY, Φ Ξ Κ

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Bill"

Kind—Bill.

Flavor—Peppy.

Size—Small.

Growth—Slow.

A very pleasant fruit; cultivated mostly by Alumni for own use.

MARGARET BISHOP

LANSDOWNE, PA.

"Peggy"

Peggy seems to be quiet,
But look out for this quiet kind;
She's about as expert in rough-house
As any you could find.

Peggy appears to be wise,
But again it's a case of bluff.
Peggy's at her best when fussing
Mit dot Dutchman vot she luff.

GILSON GRANT BLAKE, JR., T A O
MT. WASHINGTON, MD.

He singeth, he danceth, he beateth the box
He keepeth of jokes, a store
And emitteth them when least you expect
From a dome, six feet from the floor.

He readeth much, he talketh more
He fusseth once in a while.
And when it comes to the ladies' gowns
He's up on the latest style.

He shineth not on the football field,
Nor yet with the baseball nine,
But when it comes to the Faculty
Why, Gilson leads the line.

ETHEL MAY BURNETT
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Ethel, tripping up her chocolate debtors last year (very sweetly): "Have you yours?"

This year (still more sweetly): "Has thee thine?"

An occasional answer: "Yes, cherub, but only got a dollar; change it."

Upon which Ethel sweetly asks standers-by for change and seldom gets it.

On other occasions she is seen parading the hall with a waste-basket, which is full to the brim with day students' lunches, under her arm, exclaiming that the condition of that room is awful.

JOHN STOKES CARSWELL, T A O
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Sticker"

Did you ever notice a tall dark youth on the athletic field in the spring? All legs and arms and awkward motions; he goes over the cross-bar like a rusty gate. But what is surprising is that he lands safely on the other side without snapping his thin legs.

BENJAMIN SIDNEY CLIME, K Σ
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

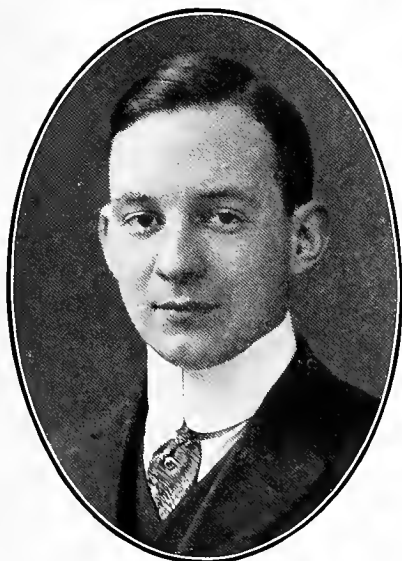

"Celery," "Ben"

The three things in life that Ben loves most are football, rough-house, and celery. His widespread fame as an athlete is sufficient testimony to his love for football. Anyone in Wharton, New or Old, North or South, can tell you of his fondness for rough-house, and even the girls seem to know that Ben has the happy faculty of being in every scrape that's going. Last, and greatest of all is his passion for celery, which amounts to nothing less than adoration. It is because of this last characteristic that his friends at the table, in wide-eyed and hungry astonishment, have named him Benjamin Selery Clime.

BYRON COLES COLLINS, T A O

MOORESTOWN, N. J.

Having overcome the reputation for timidity usually given to residents of Moorestown, by a marked liking for rough-house, Byron has now settled back on his laurels to take life easy. With his abbreviated legs and his happy smile he is a little sunbeam in our midst, but we do wish that he would outgrow that foolish cackle that he calls a laugh.

HELEN COLLINS CULIN, Δ Γ

OGONTZ, PA.

"H. C."

Helen had a collie dog,
 Well known was this dog Jap,
 He'd bark at all the girls he saw,
 And at the boys he'd snap.
 He followed her to hockey games
 And caused beaucoup mishaps,
 He tripped up many speeding dames
 Did this bad dog of CAPT'S.

PAUL MILLER CUNCANNON

KENNET SQUARE, PA.

"Senator"

Who is this youthful orator,
 Who stands before our eyes?
 He'll be a Webster some day,
 In speech if not in size.
 He studies conscientiously,
 He reads up all the news,
 Yes, he's a member of our class
 We can't afford to lose.

CHARLES J. DARLINGTON, T A O

DARLING, PA.

Charlie comes from a place up the track called Darling. It is hard to tell whether it was named after him or his disposition. He used to come from there every day, but now he has decided that the atmosphere in Wharton won't cloud his brain or injure his wind and so he bunks with us. The result of endurance races, both on the track and on the cards in the Registrar's office, show that he has cause to be proud of this same brain and wind combination.

HANNAH WORRALL DARLINGTON

DARLING, PA.

What's that horrible noise up on second west? That? O, that's just Hannan Darlington leading a general rough-house in the Day Student's quarters. Hannah is the most dignified lady, when she's strolling down the Asphaltum for the 4.51, but when Vera and Hannah get started on second west, woe to the rules of law and order!—why mounted police couldn't restore peace—all that will avail is the bended knee petition for mercy.

Hannah's a good sport, though—and her HALCYON picture will testify that the beneficial effect of the country shows in her good looks.

SARA DARLINGTON

POMEROY, PA.

"Sal"

With expressions that fit, you surely are there,

Sara, me darling,

Niver say Darn.

I thought I was good, but ye've beat me
for fair,

Niver say Darn.

You use many words that old Webster
would shun,

You use every hallowed expression but one,
You niver say Darn.

BERTHA ELIZABETH DELAPLAINE, Δ Γ

WAYNESBORO, PA.

"Tweet"

Her name is really Bertha,

But we always call her "Tweet."

In doing mathematics

She never can be beat.

And tho' she looks so very prim

And harmless thru and thru,

Whenever there's a rough-house

Or a lark, she's in it, too.

IDA BELLE DOWNEY

SWARTHMORE, PA.

Stately walk,
Flowery talk,
Naive air,
Fluffy hair,
Men adore
By the score,
This fair dame
From old Swarthmore.

THOMAS HENRY DOYLE

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Hello Wang! How's Wanger?" With this informal remark, 100 pounds of humanity in a short bundle enters your haven of rest, and if you are not in humor for rough-house you had better retire quickly for Tommy has arrived and a lively wrestling match, resulting in your head or Tommy's issuing forth from under an overturned bed, is sure to follow.

HELEN ELMORE

SWARTHMORE, PA.

Study—A big bluff!

Conversation?—Mostly carried on over the third east telephone.

Class?—Some class!

Exercise?—Usually taken in the Woman's Club House.

Chief joy in life?—Finding an up-to-date partner and then dancing all night.

HELEN SEIDEL EVANS

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Bricky"

Bricky has three important factors in her make-up that make life interesting.

First—Is her beautiful curly red hair which everyone admires, much to Helen's disgust.

Second—A very fiery temper which often results in the rapid transit of her friends around the nearest corner.

Third—The presence of a conscience which in her opinion most other people lack.

DOROTHY FEHR FAHENSTOCK, HBΦ

HARRISBURG, PA.

"Dot"

Dot bustles into the room, slams the door and stamps her foot.

"Gosh, Girls! I could cuss from here to Guinea and back again. Oh dear! I'm so tired. Guess I'll cut next class and take a nap. Oh, darn! I thought I was getting thin, but I've gained a pound this week. That's no joke."

She gives a long drawn-out yawn—and is asleep.

REBEKAH ALCOYNE FAIRLAMB

BRANDYWINE SUMMIT, PA.

Convicted in January, 1914.

Alcyone Fairlamb, almost A.B.

Crime: Writing young volumes for Miss Gorham in English Poetry.

Occupation: Shining as a terpsichorean star of the first magnitude.

Caught: While boarding a train for Brandywine Summit.

Finger Marks: Not necessary, as her sunny hair would give her away.

MILTON H. FUSSELL, JR., Φ K Ψ
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Fuss"

His greatest desire next to having plenty of sleep, is to become an athlete, or at least to have people think him one. On his one memorable Lacrosse trip, he was swaggering along in New York with a Lacrosse stick and a suitcase, when a little tough struck up the following conversation:

Tough—Have any luck, Mister?

Milton—Yes, the ball wasn't thrown to me.

T.—What are you giving me? I want to know how many yer caught?

M.—None. I was only in the game a short time.

T.—Oh, I thought they was crab nets.

ELIZABETH DOROTHEA GAGE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

"Betty"

Our Betty Gage, is all the rage
 Whene'er it comes to dancing.
 For she'll not balk at the Castle Walk
 Or other steps entrancing.
 Though the Dean's amazed, she is not phased,
 It's fun that she is after.
 Oh, she's right there, the boys declare,
 As they hear her joyous laughter.

JESSICA GRANVILLE-SMITH, K A Θ
BELLPORT, N. Y.

"Jecky"

When Jessica came as a Freshman
 Along with a hundred more,
 She was so shy, so innocent,
 She captured all Swarthmore.

The next fall brought us Marcia
 To join the Garnet fun,
 And from that time, their shadows
 Have blended into one.

If now you'd find our Jessica
 In the tea-room first go try.
 She's there to escape the microbes,
 And to rest her artistic eye.

ETHEL BLANCHE HARVEY

MOORESTOWN, N. J.

Who knows the rules from A to Z,
 Is always ready to help thee,
 And never got below a B,
 Our Ethel.

Who is it has the love of all,
 Is satellite to Connie Ball,
 And much admired on Junior hall,
 Our Ethel.

JANE ACKLEY HENRY

WOODBURY, N. J.

Jane has proven herself a valuable pen-pusher, both as one of your respectful servants on the Staff and as Secretary of our Class. She is also on the job with advice (when it is asked for) and it is rumored that in the first semester administration, she was the power behind the throne.

FANNIE ELIZABETH HILL

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Yes, Fannie is a pretty good student.

Does she study much? Well, since she is a Day Student, we can't say—but no one yet, has ever seen Fannie without a book in her hand. Yes, she goes in for all athletics. To be sure she has never made a team yet, but Miss Blanchard told her the other day to be a little more "rambunctious" and she'd be a star yet, in sports.

(We are not afraid of Fannie's over-exercising).

JOHN WALDO HOWELL, K Σ
SPRINGFIELD, O.

"Buck"

When Waldo came to college,
He had two aims in view,
One was to acquire knowledge
The same as me and you.
Now he alone can tell you
If in this he's had success.
But the other I assure you
Of it he's made no mess.
To satisfy his appetite
He strives both day and night.
He's always busy eating,
And he eats with all his might.
When he's not engaged in studying
Or filling up his face,
He's been taking lots of pictures
Around the dear old place.

ELMA GREENWOOD JEFFERIES

CHESTER, PA.

"I'm so mad I don't know what to do. Phil Hicks only gave me a C in Dec. What did you get? B? Well, forever more!"

Elma is generally very meek and kind, but when it comes to getting a C in Public Speaking, then her patience runs out.

The only other known cause of wrath on Elma's part occurred when Miss Pierce lost her French story, and then scolded Elma for leaving it with her.

AUGUSTE EMILIE JELLINGHAUS

NEW YORK, N. Y.

1. There is a slight noise in the hall. Then a very much greater noise is heard. What's the trouble? Only Auguste, the Proctor, calling down some one for breathing in Quiet Hour.

2. Note on your desk: "You owe me 15 cents for chocolate, and please be at the Pet at 2 o'clock we have to decorate the Gym."

3. You wake up tired, and discouraged at having missed breakfast, your last friend in the world has departed, you decide to cut it all anyway and get some more sleep; when in comes Auguste with a plate full of eats, a cheery smile, and the news that somebody has been taken into something, and the Monks are going out to-night.

GWYNN HENRY KELLER
WEST CHESTER, PA.

There is a young man named Keller,
 Who certainly is a queer feller,
 He takes Declamation,
 To preach in vacation,
 And good Lord, how he can beller!

DENMAN HOWARD KELLEY

GILMOUR, IND.

Denny is a good kid and we like him, but he's got to cut out this gettin' loud all the time. When a bunch can't get together in the hall without him all the time buttin' in, why then it's time to come right out and tell him to quit. And the girls are gettin' sore on him, too. He wants to be the whole show at all the dances and things. Honest, it's got to a point where we've got to tell him to go a bit slow, or those of us as know him so well won't like him any more.

MARY CAROLINE LANGE

MEDIA, PA.

"Polly"

Some facts about "Polly."

1. She's a good dancer—see her partner at the Junior dance.
2. She has decided opinions as to where the climax is in a play—see Miss Gorham's Elizabethan Drama class.
3. She doesn't object to boys—see back bench in same class.

THOMAS BAYARD McCABE, Δ Υ

SELBYVILLE, DEL.

"Tom"

A wondrous smile has Tom McCabe,
It spreads from ear to ear :
We think that when he was a babe
He must have been a dear.
He still retains his youthful ways
Though now he's on "Exec",
And he is striving all his days
Our erring ways to check.

MARY HOWITT McGAHEY

DARBY, PA.

"What in the world shall I do? I haven't had a bit of time to look at the newspaper, to-day. Listen, have you got your Greek done? I don't know a thing about it, I simply can't remember those words. By the way, could you get those originals? Oh say, how many dates do you suppose we will have to learn for that History exam—" And Mary rushes off with a newspaper under one arm and a pile of books under the other.

MARGARET ANNE McINTOSH, II B Φ
NEW YORK, N. Y.

"Piggy," "Peg"

WANTED:—By Margaret McIntosh, a kindred spirit. She must be able to accomplish the necessary amount of studying in the briefest space of time. She must be able to swim, dance, sing, play hockey and basketball, write anything from a good excuse to a stirring detective story or song; to have read much, thought deeply, always be ready to act quickly, face all consequences bravely, and to love and be interested in everything connected with Swarthmore, old and new. Application must be made in person. The remuneration is good.

ARTHUR HORTON MANN, Φ Σ K
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Art"

The Navy will miss a great commander if he studies medicine—and the zoo a drawing card if he gets his A.B., before the Bronx locates him.

At any rate he shows such ability, cleverness, and like faculties, which would fit him for his position, that it would be well for him to join the Navy. Why? You ask. Because all battleships have mascots to amuse the men.

Really tho' it's awfully sad,

We'd only like right here to say
We hope that he's come back to stay.

WILLIAM WESLEY MATSON

WEST CHESTER, PA.

You can never find Bill Matson lacking in arguments no matter what the question is, or what side he takes. He haunts the Eunomian Room and advances his opinion on the Currency Bill, the Media jail, or the rights of the Dean, as you come thru the door. Some think him conceited but, of course, they are mistaken.

ANNA LIPPINCOTT MILLER, K A Θ

She'll never starve her hub.

MARGARET MILNE, K K Γ

NEW YORK, N. Y.

Miss Margaret Milne, as I've heard gossips

MARIAN ELIZABETH MUNCE

SWARTHMORE, PA.

"Muncey"

Place—Day Students' Room.

Enter Munce, raising her characteristic sonorous voice:

"For it's apple blossom time in Nor-

"Hey, Munce, it's quiet hour!"

"Oh! I should bibble. I don't recognize such a thing. Hey, Steve, I'm in a hen of a jam! Cut Spanish Friday; Monday didn't know where the lesson was; Wednesday, late to class and was locked out; now we're

"Well, so long, Steve!—meet you in

Exit Munce.

AGNES ELIZABETH O'BRIEN

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Aggie"

On the Gymnasium steps in the morning,
Near the pool when the sun is high,
On Cunningham Field in the evening,
Agnes O'Brien you'll spy.

With a smile upon its rosy face,
And a curl hanging down its back,
You'll find Miss Blanchard's shadow
Close on Miss Blanchard's track.

And when it comes to the class-room,
And you're hunting Agnes again,
We'll warn you before you enter,
In a contest with her, you can't win.

MARTHA LOUISA PANCOAST

We've hunted for one little word,
That we think will apply to thee,
And the one that seems to fit the best
Is simply—"Scarcity."

MARIAN VINTON PHILLIPS

DOWNINGTOWN, PA.

Noisy? Oh no, not a bit! She has a beautiful voice, and all the hall can prove that she exercises it enough. Marion can talk more, say less and entertain her listeners better than any girl I know of.

LILLIAN MARIE PILE

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Lil"

When first we spied this lady,
In Geometry class she sat,
With her wondering eyes on Latimer,
And a smile like a Cheshire cat.

Much yellow hair above,
Quite a little bit of style,
A light fantastic toe below,
Supports Miss Lillian Pile.

DOROTHY NAPIER POWELL

LANSDOWNE, PA.

"Dot"

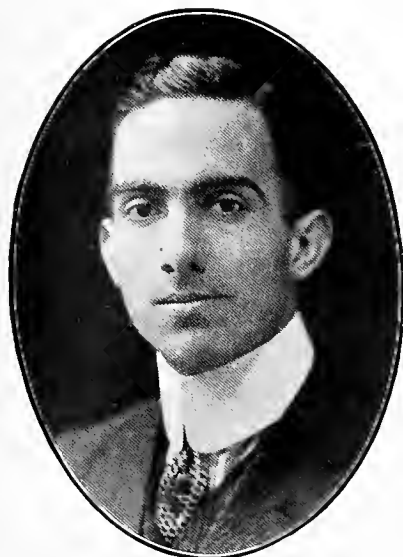

Dainty sweet girl,
Only one of her kind,
Terrible conscience,
Pretty good mind.

On hand and ready
Whenever there's fun,
Everyone likes her,
Likes everyone.
Long may she live!

JOHN WILBUR PRATT

WEST CHESTER, PA.

John Wilbur Pratt! Some name, eh, fellows!

John was a prophet, so is Pratt. He can prophesy when he is going to get through College.

Wilbur is the candy man, so is Pratt. Well, at least the Main Line girls think so.

Pratt is the last, but not the least of these men. We hope his prophesies will come true, and that he may be even a sweeter "Bud" than Wilbur.

CATHARINE WHITE PUGH, K K T

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Pugh-O"

Do you see that girl so fair,
 Playing jacks?
 At the top of 3rd East stair,
 Playing jacks?
 She takes hockey, studies too,
 Dances, swims (?) does Catherine Pugh,
 When there's nothing else to do
 She's playing jacks.

ISABELLE ROBERTS PUGH, K K T

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Tottie"

A dainty little maiden,
 With hair of auburn hue,
 The only fault about it:
 It's usually askew.
 She's always trotting homeward,
 A fact which we all rue.
 I'll tell you what her name is,
 It's little "Tottie" Pugh.

MARY BROWN REED

REEDSVILLE, PA.

Mary is our one true Pennsylvania Dutchman. You would never suspect it to look at her, nor even imagine it. When she begins to talk, but wait until she gets speed up and then—

Every summer she goes to Penn State and when asked why, she has invariably answered for the last three years: "To see my brother graduate." (She only has one brother.)

ELIZABETH MAY ROBERTS, Δ Γ

GLENOLDEN, PA.

"Bob"

"Ha! Ha!" with a slam of the door and a few more chuckles Bob enters the room—

"Where's Brieny?"

"Ah! Brieny, I had the best time in my life at that dance, you know, I nearly lost my hair when I tripped over Bill's foot.

"But, Oh! Brieny, Did you hear about the new party? Won't it be fun!"

"Oh! the dickens with the class bell—see you later—" And Bob hustles out of the room with a slam of the door.

RACHAEL ELIZABETH ROBERTS

MOORESTOWN, N. J.

"Rach"

Rach is the kind of girl that gets a lot of fun out of College that nobody ever knows about. Freshman year when we made the 1915 banner which was to fly in the face of the watchful Sophomores, it was Rach who buttoned the glaring red cloth under her sweater and took us to Sue's room to stealthily perform the deed of making the banner. Without Sue, Rach has been forced to take to studying, though she still appears when anything exciting is to be done.

ELINOR ROBINSON, Δ Γ

WILMINGTON, DEL.

"Chubbie"

Chubbie was a hefty lass when first she came to College,
 She's steadily decreased in weight as she's increased in Knowledge.
 She's fond of walking, rain or shine,
 She thinks that dancing, too, is fine,
 But at one thing she draws the line.
 That's—DIMPLES.

JOHN DORMAN ROBINSON

GEORGETOWN, DEL.

Between going to classes and oxidizing Fatimas, Robby has little time to show himself to the public. But when the corn meal is spread on the "Gym" floor, he comes out of his hibernation and is among the first to raise the dust. The girls say he can dance, too, and he don't seem a bit bashful—on Saturday nights.

CLAYTON TAYLOR ROGERS, ΔΥ

"Clayte"

Having entered the Class of 1914 and realizing his mistake, Clayt left College after two years to let us catch up to him. Now he is back again, with the same little voice, and although we don't know him very well as a Class, we feel sure that anyone showing such rare discretion will prove a valuable member before we are through with him.

RENA ROTHNER

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

On this, the thirty-first day of the second month of 1913, a warrant is issued, hereby commanding the taking of the body or bodies of Rena Rothner if she be found in the vicinity of Miss Bronk's French room, to answer to the French students of same room, upon a charge of manslaughter founded on her habit of continually suggesting French exams, and thus causing the said students to end their feeble lives in various and sundry ways: and for so doing this shall be your warrant,

But you'll fool 'em some day,
For you surely can play,

B—He once kissed a girl in Glen Cove.

Meet her any time of day,
"Hi old top," you hear her say,
"Done your German, gee, it's tough,
Guess I'll go to class and bluff."
Ain't got no time to waste at all
When you meet her in the hall.
Indeed, to get some time for fun
She has to rise before the sun.
Tennis, Hockey, Basketball,
Gym and swimming, does them all.
As for fussing the rest aren't in it.
Has a new man every minute.

NORMAN SHERRERD, $\Phi \Sigma \kappa$

Here is the guardian of the sacred portals of the new dining room. He can spot a meal ticket anywhere within the radius of a half mile and is sure death to the breakfast delinquents.

'Tis said that he keeps a rubber stamp for—

Norm is also quite the social lion, and can be found almost any Saturday night demonstrating the Terpsichorean art in Swarthmore's famous dancing hall.

ETHEL SHOEMAKER, $\Pi \beta \Phi$

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Shoe," "Angel"

"Angel" is a meek child for all that she is hefty. She flees from large and noisy crowds to the company of one or two. She has clear ideas on the subjects of general discussion around college, but she never makes any more fuss about them, than to wrinkle her black brows, and twinkle her black eyes and say quietly: "Don't you think maybe we ought not to do it?"

RUTH SHORT

MERCHANTVILLE, N. J.

"Shorty"

Some people in College seem to think that Ruth's chief aim in life is to dress well, look well, and dance well, but they are all dead wrong. To be sure, she has "some clothes," can dance like a dream, and oh, those eyes! To look at her, you would never say that she was a "dippy stude," but when you hear her brilliant recitations in Math. class and see the long line of A's that stretch after her name, you realize that women aren't always as fickle as people think they are.

Sam—Well, fellows, to change the subject, we've got some pretty classy dames in Media, what say you?

One of the fellows (gestures representing complete knowledge of the situation)—You bet your life, Sam.

Sam—I told you Pratty knew. (Sam inflates an empty cracker bag to the size of a balloon, busts the bag with a loud report, comes forth with the following original poetry)—

Sharp and still as cannons' roar,
It went from ceiling to the floor.

DANIEL OWEN STEVENS

MOYLAN, PA.

If you see a long, thin, raven-haired individual walking along the path he has worn between Rose Valley and the Observatory, you can bet a couple of asymptotes to a worn-out integral that it is the pride of the Math. department—Owen Stevens. If he would let us see some of his hidden virtues, we would find he had a sense of humor, a capacity for drawing, and more or less ability to play baseball; but the only places we ever meet him are in the aforesaid Observatory, or the Swimming pool, and we don't all see him there, of course.

GEORGIA STREETER, Δ Δ Δ

WACO, TEXAS

Georgia is our little Southern lady from Texas. We don't know just what she thinks of us and our Northern ways, but "I tell you, Honey," we all like her and her Southern drawl, "sure nuff." She has a brother in Philadelphia who comes to see her every week and frequently brings a friend. We cannot decide which is the greater attraction, brother or the friend, though Georgia stoutly affirms that until "last Sunday" she never even saw "the other man."

LEILA NEWTON TAYLOR

DARBY, PA.

"Well, my soul, is there nothing harder than Greek for me to take?" Leila's day consists of: "Rising at five in the morning, coming to college early so she can study, going to classes, studying all day, and then all night. She doesn't do it for the credit, but just because she loves it."

"Tiz" "Alex"

"Tiz" is good for feet. The only feat our "Tiz" is good for is Doc Pearson's laughing feat. "Tiz" has worked for Dr. Pearson so long that he has become a living example of that good man's eternal smile. When "Tiz" laughs the mice feet run from his eyes all over his face. Why, "Tiz", please don't close your eyes when you smile, you can't see how nice I look.

HOWARD EARLE TWINING, K Σ

IVYLAND, PA.

"Twink"

Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
It's hard to believe just who you are.
At first you seemed to lack the stuff,
Just as a diamond in the rough.

But 1915 made you shine,
In basketball and on the nine.
Though you've been changing more and more,
Your bowed legs haunt us as of yore.

LELIA ELOISE VEST, Δ Γ

OTTUMWA, IOWA

"Wees"

Eloise comes from a far away town,
A Western girl is she,
She's slow in her walk, and slow in her talk,
But I'm sure we'll all agree,
That with pep and ambition, she's always right there,
That figure so very "petite."
And as for having her own sweet way,
In that she's got us all beat.

VERA LOUISE WALTON

NEW GARDEN, PA.

There is a fair maid from New Garden,
 Who to day Student trials is hardened.
 She runs for the train,
 In a quite merry vain,
 So, her lateness to classes is pardoned.

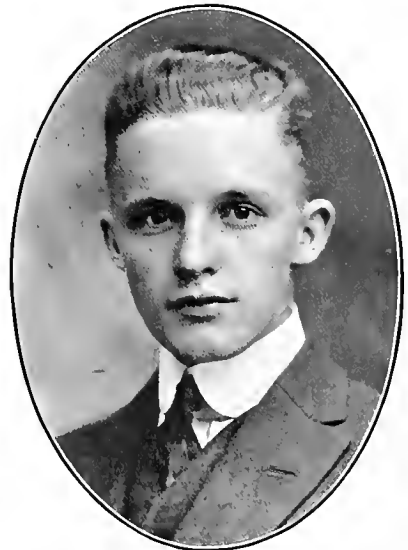

WILLIAM HILLES WARD, K Σ

ZANESVILLE, OHIO

"Bill"

Ward.
 Size—Big enough.
 Control—Gang.
 Gang—"Bob" and Bill.
 Policy—dancing.
 Party—House.
 All attempts to gerrymander this Ward have failed. The Gang controls.

BERTHA KENT WEBB

WEST CHESTER, PA.

There was a little spider
Who spun a little Webb,
That she might sit inside it,
And study until dead.

She took into her palace,
The classic folk of yore,
And studied Greek and Latin
Until there are no more.

JOSEPH STANLEY WETHERALD, T A O

SANDY SPRING, MD.

"Blink" or "Shrimp"

When you see a little man coming along the walk at a rapid pace and almost smothered by a white sweater with a garnet S thereon, you will know that it is Blink, almost overcome by the sweater and the sense of his own importance, which he won at Lacrosse. When separated from the above named article of adornment, he is a modest and unassuming little fellow, tending strictly to business and also pleasure when it comes along, besides finding time to hold down the hazardous position of goal-keeper on the Lacrosse team.

JOHN COMLY WHITE, ΔΥ
LANSDOWNE, PA.

There is a young man named John White,
 And to study is his chief delight,
 Though he's not always happy,
 And sometimes he's scrappy,
 He's there with the goods as to height.

ELIZABETH SOMERS WILLIAMS
RIVERTON, N. J.

"Bess"

Bess ought to be on the debating team. She certainly can hand out her ideas, clearly and forcibly; and then she is fleet of foot, and can escape before her opponent has had time to answer back. She generally chooses the weaker side for her support, regardless of what the subject may be. Bess is a "queer duck," and a sport.

JOHN S. WILLIAMS, 2nd., Φ K Ψ

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Williams—A summer flower.

Color—Red.

Variety—Junior.

Height—Has reached five feet, ten and half inches.

Blooms—Continually.

Note:—A very hardy, energetic plant; best results will be obtained if planted in rich College soil, with Freshmen not too far apart.

JOSEPHINE ELLIOTTE WILSON

CHESTER, PA.

"Jo"

There's class to Joe Wilson,
That can't be denied.
From Chester she haileth
And hence all her pride.
She says what she thinks
And thus takes a chance,
That her fine opinions
In the world she'll advance.

JENNIE HAINES YERKES

SWARTHMORE, PA.

Vaudeville entitled—"A Rough-houser."

Place—Fourth West Main Hall.

Time—Quiet Hour.

Leading Lady—Jen Yerkes.

SYNOPSIS.

Act I.

Couch smashed, general lounging on the floor, Jen embracing a Lessing, expounding on the wonderful eyes of a certain "Cow," suddenly decides to leave.

Act II.

A rumbling noise, an occasional giggle next door.

Act III.

Scene—Next Door—Chairs piled to the ceiling, pictures draped, contents of closet deposited on top of bureau, etc.

Loud exclamations—"Oh, where are my things. I must catch this train; who tied this all in knots?" General confusion, nothing can be found.

Jen unobserved at the other end of the hall calmly watches the performance.

"FATHER TIME"

ALUS (H) (V)

Dur Sixteen

Now shade your eyes and I'll throw on the screen
The living likenesses of Our Sixteen.

The glass of fashion and the mould of form,—
I rather guess they take the world by storm.

Farmer and merchant, statesman, lawyer, leech,
There is a halo round the head of each,—

A living lesson unto you and me,
Who never rise from me-di-oc-ri-tee.

Facile princeps, each one in his line,
(You like my Latin?) they illustrious shine.

Semper paratus, also semper bright,
Each one of them's A Very Shining Light.

And so I give thee this advice, my son,—
Go do and dare as Our Sixteen have done,
And earn a portrait in the Hal-cy-on!

Western Swarthmore Club

THIS Club was organized at the house of Thomas A. Jenkins, Class of 1887, in Chicago, December, 1903. Ex-President Magill was present and read a paper on "Old Times at the College." At first the title was Chicago Swarthmore Club, but it soon became evident that many graduates outside of the city could easily be interested. In 1905 new officers were elected, and, at the suggestion of the president, it was decided to propose to the College to offer jointly a free, honor scholarship to the graduates of the best High Schools in the Middle West. This Honor Scholarship has now been offered for eight successive years, and has been the means of inducing twice that number of Western men and women to attend Swarthmore. Two Scholars have graduated. Meantime the Club has become the Western Swarthmore Club, the membership list has steadily grown, and the members nearly all contribute to the expenses of the Club with a loyalty which is second to none. The requirements for the competition are broad, character coming first, then scholarship and effective participation in school activities of all kinds, including sports.

Trenton Swarthmore Club

THE Trenton Swarthmore Club is an organization of five Swarthmore men located in Trenton, N. J., formed primarily for the purpose of furnishing a scholarship in Swarthmore College to the preparatory schools in Trenton and vicinity.

The organization offers yearly a full, free, competitive honor scholarship of $400.00 which is awarded to the worthy male applicant from the neighboring territory, which includes seven of the most prominent preparatory schools within a radius of ten miles.

The requirements are based somewhat on those of the Rhodes Scholarship. The purpose of the award is to secure and induce men from that vicinity to enter Swarthmore, the aim of the committee being to attract and develop all-round men, since no particular stress is given to any one line of activity.

The Joseph Leidy Scientific Society

THE Scientific Society of Swarthmore College was organized in 1880, and later, in March, 1895, was rechristened The Joseph Leidy Scientific Society of Swarthmore College, in honor of the famous scientist who was affiliated so long and so closely with the College.

The object of the Society is to keep abreast with the discoveries in the scientific world. There are five sciences included in the work of the association: Astronomy, Biology and Psysiography, Chemistry, Physics, and Engineering. The programs of the meetings include short talks by the instructors in one or more of the above departments concerning the recent discoveries in their respective sciences, or on topics of general scientific interest. Talks are also given by different members, followed by open discussion by the Society.

The residents of the borough of Swarthmore are eligible to membership, as well as the students and officers of the College. The meetings are held on the second third-day (Tuesday) evening of every month during the College year.

The Joseph Leidy Scientific Society is the only organization of its kind in the College with an endowment, a liberal sum of money having been given by an alumnus, to be used for the advancement of the Society.

NIGHT

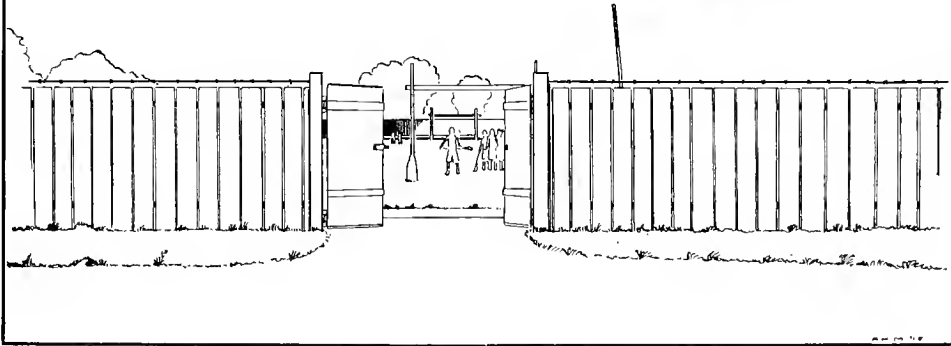

February thirteenth, Friday night, is the date of the annual College Oratorical Contest. A prize of $25, donated by Owen Moon, Jr., '95, is given to the winner of the contest, who also represents the College in the State Oratorical Contest, held this year at Franklin and Marshall, Lancaster, Pa. Swarthmore has always made a creditable showing in the State Contest. It was held last year at Swarthmore, Roy Ogden winning first place. It is important that everyone with any ability along this line should get to work at once on an oration for the College contest if Swarthmore is to land a place again this year in the State Contest. The orations are limited to fifteen hundred words.

Penn Game, 1913

Football

THE old sad story of hard luck seems to sum up the history of the past football season. A good nucleus of old men, a promising string of new material, and the fact that Fred Geig was acting in the capacity of coach made the pre-season prophets chuckle with glee. But the long line of accidents and the general all-around hard luck, including vaccination of the men before the Penn game, started early and turned the season into one of doubtful success from the standpoint of games won and games lost. Our victories over Ursinus and Hopkins did their share toward compensating the defeats at the hands of Penn, Lafayette, Dickinson, and Lehigh, and the 0 to 0 score with Villa Nova. But there was an intangible something which turned this dubious record as figured on paper into one of the successful seasons of our football history. There was a display of good old Swarthmore fighting spirit evinced at every game which, when combined with the loyalty of the men for their coach, gladdened the hearts of all true Swarthmore enthusiasts.

With Ben Clime as next year's captain and Fred Geig back again as coach, the outlook for next year is excellent. Although we will lose the services of a good many valuable men with the graduation of the Senior Class, there will be a wealth of last season's second string men ready to step into their places, and an added interest will be given to the season in the Haverford game, which will be as "big" in the future as it was in the past!

TEN victories from a total of fourteen games would indicate that the Swarthmoreans are returning to their form of two years ago. With Frank Griffin coaching, the team was rounded into shape early in the season, the tiresome Northern trip resulting in two triumphs for the Garnet, the strong Syracuse team having lowered our colors in the last game of the trip. The Navy, Lehigh, and Penn State fives also took a fall out of our heroes, but the fact that they made it "six straight" with Pennsylvania would have balanced these defeats without the help of the other series of victories.

This year's Freshman class added a large number of floor artists to those already in college and, with their proper development, the strength of our team should be assured for some years to come.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

THE track season of 1913 was not as successful as some of the other seasons have been, but at the same it was far from a failure. One dual won, and three lost; second place in the Penn Relays on April 26th, and also second place in the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate games at Easton, in which we were barely nosed out of first by Lafayette whom we had defeated in a dual meet earlier in the season, about sums up the season's results in a nut-shell.

The work of some members of the team was exceptionally brilliant. The work of Melick, in the quarter mile and of Gowdy in the hurdles and broad jump is especially worthy of note. In two different meets Gowdy broke the college broad jump record and he also broke both Freshman hurdle records.

At present the prospects for a good team this season are very bright. Only two of last year's team were lost by graduation and there are a number of promising freshmen who are showing up well. Under the careful training of Coach Haydock and the able leadership of Captain Melick, there is every reason to believe that the present system will be a most successful one.

THE WINNING CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

— 9-61-7-15 —

Lacrosse

ALTHOUGH the last of the famous Moorestown contingent had graduated the Spring before, the Garnet team was able to roll up a total of fifty points during the season against their opponents' thirty-two. The men did not win any championships for their Alma Mater, but they succeeded in running up a 17 to 0 score against the New York Lacrosse Club, in defeating Pennsylvania twice, winning over Stevens by a good score, and tying Navy, 6 to 6. The games with Cornell, Lehigh, Hopkins, and Carlisle resulted in defeats and the Mt. Washington game was unfortunately called off.

Coach Whitehead will again be back with his vast knowledge of the game and Captain Owings is expected to lead the team to another imposing string of victories this year.

BASE~ BALL

JOHN P. WILLIAMS, 2ND

Baseball

FOURTEEN games scheduled, eleven played, and three won is the synopsis of the 1913 baseball season. Our men defeated Lehigh, Ursinus, and Stevens in well played games, but victory frowned upon us in the other contests, although we battled Penn for twelve innings for the supremacy of the first game. The death of Mike Murphy necessitated the cancellation of the second game with them, and two other games were called off because of rain.

This year we are without the services of Captain Weaver and the inimitable Tarble Brother Battery, but with Roy Durborow leading the team and Bob Yates back to occupy his strategic position on the bench, the coming season should be a banner one.

Founders' Day, 1913

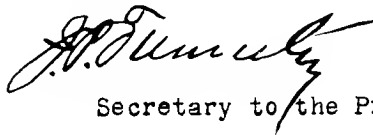

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

January 16, 1914

My dear Sir:

Miss Wilson has handed to me your letter of January 15th and in response to your request I have pleasure in enclosing a copy of the President's speech at Swarthmore which he has autographed.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "J. P. Murphy". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long, sweeping underline that extends to the right.

Secretary to the President

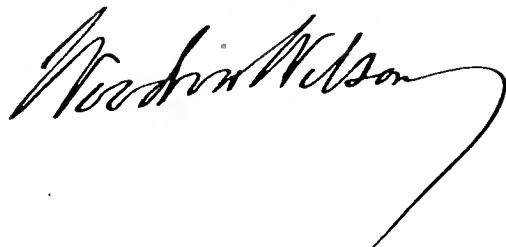

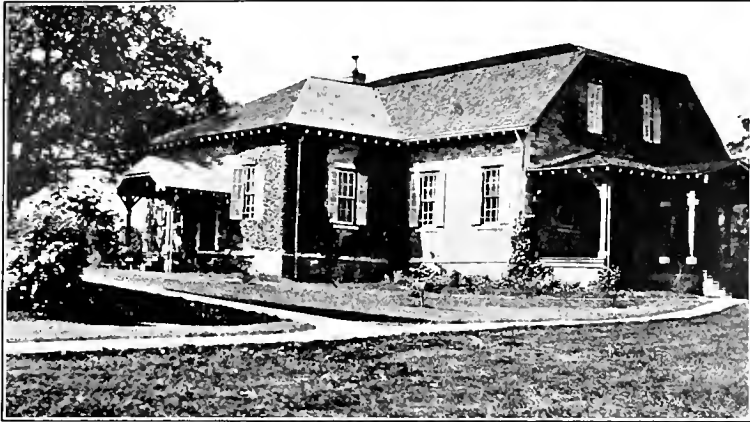

PRESIDENT WILSON

Extract from President Wilson's Address on Founders' Day

THE spirit of Penn will not be stayed. You cannot set limits to such knightly adventurers. After their own day is gone their spirits stalk the world, carrying inspiration everywhere that they go and reminding men of the lineage, the fine lineage, of those who have sought justice and right. It is no small matter, therefore, for a college to have as its patron saint a man who went out upon such a conquest. What I would like to ask you young people to-day is: How many of you have devoted yourselves to like adventure? How many of you will volunteer to carry these spiritual messages of liberty to the world? How many of you will forego anything except your allegiance to that which is just and that which is right? We die but once, and we die without distinction if we are not willing to die the death of sacrifice. Do you covet honor? You will never get it by serving yourself. Do you covet distinction? You will get it only as the servant of mankind. Do not forget, then, as you walk these classic places, why you are here. You are not here merely to prepare to make a living. You are here in order to enable the world to live more amply, with greater vision, with a finer spirit of hope and achievement. You are here to enrich the world, and you impoverish yourself if you forget the errand.

It seems to me that there is no great difference between the ideals of the college and the ideals of the State. Can you not translate the one into the other? Men have not had to come to college, let me remind you, to quaff the fountains of this inspiration. You are merely more privileged than they. Men out of every walk of life, men without advantages of any kind, have seen the vision, and you, with it written large upon every page of your studies, are the more blind if you do not see it when it is pointed out. You could not be forgiven for overlooking it. They might have been. But they did not await instruction. They simply drew the breath of life into their lungs, felt the aspirations that must come to every human soul, looked out upon their brothers, and felt their pulses beat as their fellows' beat, and then sought by counsel and action to move forward to common ends that would be crowned by honor and achievement. This is the only glory of America. Let every generation of Swarthmore, men and women, add to the strength of that lineage and the glory of that crown of life!

A large, elegant handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "Woodrow Wilson". The signature is written in a cursive style with a long, sweeping tail that extends downwards and to the right.

Our First Week

'Twas September twentieth
 On an Autumn day
 That the class of '15
 Entered I say.
 Her men all spurred
 And ready for fight
 Went forth to the fray
 On that poster night.
 For many long hours
 They wandered away
 From the scene of the fight
 At the dawn of day.
 At the sun's first ray
 They wandered back
 To watch for the Sophs
 With spirit and tact.
 At the stroke of the chimes
 The Sophomores came
 From behind the barracks
 Of Parrish of fame.
 President Lucas in front
 With paste in hand
 Was met by McCabe
 Of the Freshman Clan.
 McCabe was crowned
 With the pasty pail

Then Sophomores were downed
 By the Freshmen hale.
 But the referee's whistle
 Found the Soph's to have won
 For they hid the poster
 Under the dirt, by gum!
 The Freshmen left
 The scene that day
 With determination
 To fight, I say.
 Our Freshman President
 Was next to get
 So we started planning
 You can bet.
 The election of Gordon
 Down by the Crum
 Made us all happy
 And the Sophomores glum.
 Our President elected
 Now we were free
 To elect in peace
 Our Secretary.
 On Saturday next
 We marched to a fray
 Held on Whittier Field
 This day.

SWARTHMORE LIFE

On the green turf
Sophs caused us to swim
Making us tired
That they might win.
We rushed at the keg
With blackened faces
And soon the Sophs
Were losing their places.
Thru eight long minutes
We struggled and groaned
Till the referee's gun
Left us holding our own.
As the hands were counted
Sophs stood in dismay
To hear the sad news
"Fresh win the day."

Life's Editorial

"TWENTY YEARS AFTER"

"Life" is always interested in any movement tending toward the welfare of mankind in general and Swarthmore in particular. We wish to congratulate the managers of that noble institution on the new additions which have been made to the splendid equipment of the college. The progress made in the last year has been remarkable in many respects. First and foremost, the new Athletic Field with its splendid concrete grandstands, its practically perfect ciuder path for the Track Athletes, its great size which allows a football gridiron and a baseball diamond on the same field, its well built tennis courts, and finally the fully equipped club house, surely is a Field of which any college may well be proud.

Hardly less noteworthy is the fine Auditorium, situated on the rolling lawn of West campus which pleases the eye by its fine outward appearance, and very often the ear, by the great orations and fine concerts rendered for the soothing and uplifting influence on the students. This building also contains the tablets which following the unique custom so ably advocated by the Phoenix, tends to connect the present generation of students with those of the past. The beauty of the campus has also been enhanced by the completion of the new concrete walk extending from the now completed Wharton to the station. No one but the men students can appreciate the value of this great improvement.

It is understood that the management has already made plans for further improvements which will go still a greater way in making the campus of Swarthmore a thing of beauty and a realization of the dreams of the many loyal students and alumni of this "friendly" little college.

On Life's Wire

"Hello, Life!"

"Hello! Who is it, please?"

"This is Robert Commotion Brooks."

"Hello, Dr. Brooks; what's the news?"

"Nothing special, but before summer vacation begins I'd just like to know what you think of the new 'Absence' system I've put through at Swarthmore."

"Well, of course, it's an entirely new idea to us, but we've heard that it's one of the most popular (?) measures that has ever been enacted at Swarthmore."

"Thanks for the implied compliment. You see our plan is to bring 'business efficiency' into College life so that it won't have to be learned all over again when the student leaves College."

"Yes, that sounds very well, but speaking of the students, do you think the effects of this system will show after they leave College?"

"It's hard to tell, but I live in hopes. Of course, as far as I am concerned I can pursue only as far as College Gate. The Faculty must be satisfied first. The Faculty is now satisfied (?) and the students are at liberty to do as they please, subject to advice and consent of said Faculty."

"That sounds good. I am glad to hear that the students are at last able to do as they please (?)."

"I thought you'd agree with me. So long, Life."

"Good luck, Dr. Brooks."

Dr. Miller is very forgetful, and invariably forgets to bring his umbrella back if he takes one with him.

One evening he and Mrs. Miller were entering the house after being at a party.

Dr. M.—Well, I didn't forget the umbrella this time.

Mrs. M.—Why dear, we didn't take one.

SWARTHMORE LIFE

"Ode to Hazing"

Here's to the good old days almost forgotten

The days of the paddle and stick
When the quiet of midnight was shot in the head

By the splash of a "Fresh" in the creek.

They were the days when the paddles could talk

And the Freshman remained in his place,

When he took what was coming, plus one or two more.

And "heart trouble" wasn't the case.

They were the days when molasses
and feathers,

Jes' naturally mixed with the tar.

When the "hoses" were trained to come down off their reels

An assist in the waging of war.

Close on to twelve would the Sophomores assemble,

Each armed with a seven foot slat,
Then shouting and yelping like hounds
on a trail,

The party was on:—'member that?

Oh what a feeling to wake from your slumber,

To find yourself dumped on the floor,

With your bureau and bed between you and the ceiling:

Your best suit of clothes on the floor!

Oh what a feeling to swim in that grass,

With a club playing time on your pants,

While the bullies stand round you and laugh in your face

And you know that you haven't a chance!

Many a time some emerald green
freshman,

Has whistled for "mamma" in vain,
While he climbed up the tree of the sweet golden apples

Or prayed before Parrish for rain.

Don't you remember those trips down to "Prep"?

And the buckets of water that fell,
And the shivers and chills that shot through your spine

And you wished you were home or in—Wharton?

The lesson it taught wasn't quickly
forgotten,

Though first you were sore as a pup,
For I know the next day, if I'd had my own way,

I'd have eaten my meals standing up.

Thus we can sit on a cold Winters
night

With the smoke curling up from our pipes,

And dream half asleep, of the fun and
the fellows,

When we used to give Freshmen their stripes.

But its only a dream; its a thing of the past,

We're "civilized" now, they all say,
But pal, listen hear, down deep in your heart,

Don't you wish there was hazing
to-day?

Now up with your glasses, and toast
her a big one,

Drain the last drop; drink her dry,
For here's to the days of real good old hazing

And say, fellows, pardon the sigh!

HOW THE ASSISTANT FOUND THE STEPS.

At Swarthmore, once upon a time, Best Beloved, there was a chemistry professor, or rather an assistant to a chemistry professor, who was very learned and wise and knew this chemistry from A to Zed. Now, although this assistant chemistry professor was very wise and brilliant and carried a string of letters after his name like freight cars after an engine, he still had streaks of absent-mindedness that might have proved to be his undoing, but didn't, though more through good luck than good management; but, Beloved, far stranger things often happen to the absent-minded.

One day, Beloved, he was seized with the desire to go to the village and, as he was a stranger here, he asked the way of the first man he met. Now it was approaching evening, and the man who told him the way told him to go down the walk and look out for the steps. (Don't forget the steps, Best Beloved.) The assistant chemistry professor thanked him and started on his way. He walked and walked, and all the while he came nearer and nearer to the steps. (Which you must not forget, Beloved.) And his thoughts were far away hidden in a dim green haze probably caused by some acid which engrossed him. By and by he came to the first steps (Don't forget) and walked down without mishap. After he had done this, he patted himself on the back and was proud that he had not forgotten them.

As he was a man of great brain and tenacity, he then started to walk faster than ever and quickly he approached the second steps (Don't forget the steps, Best Beloved), but these he did not see, as he had already passed the steps—or thought he had. He came nearer and nearer the steps (which I hope you haven't forgotten), and then—he fell down the steps in an exceedingly great fall, and fell wrong side up on the hard surface of the walk which was below the steps, Best Beloved. (Now you see why I wanted you to remember the steps.) After he realized what had happened, and being a man of great brain and tenacity and also of feelings, he began to moan and to groan, to sigh and to cry, to fuss and to cuss, and finally to walk and to talk and his talk was like this, Best Beloved—"There is evidently a second set of steps of which I was unaware but I have found them with very little trouble to myself and very little inconvenience to others and as there is no use to cry over spilt milk or spilt men, I will continue on my walk." Then he consulted the trusty timekeeper on his wrist, Best Beloved, and finding that the pie-shop would still be open, he continued his walk to the village. The steps were left behind, you see, so that people could pass up and down the walk easily, but the assistant chemistry professor carried the impression of them on his memory and on other parts of his body—and that is the end of that tale.

PROF. HODADLEY—What is velocity?

FRESHMAN—Velocity is what we get out of bed on hazing night with.

SWARTHMORE LIFE

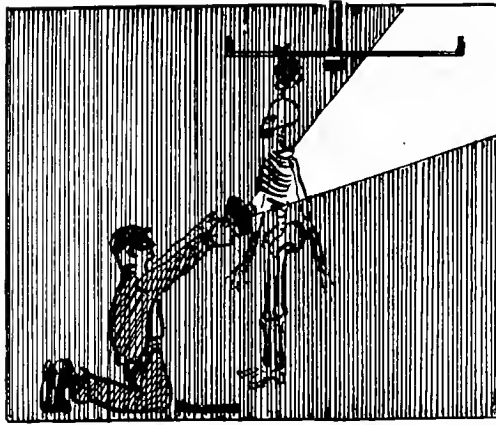

Song of the Sophomore

The Freshman, in blindness,
Receives not with kindness
Our welcoming warm and sincere;
He thinks he must please us,
In terror he flees us
Because he feels "squeamish" and queer.

Our few rules confuse him;
The way we abuse him
Is something outrageous, we hear;—
But Oh! I remember
That in last December
Our welcome was banished—O dear!

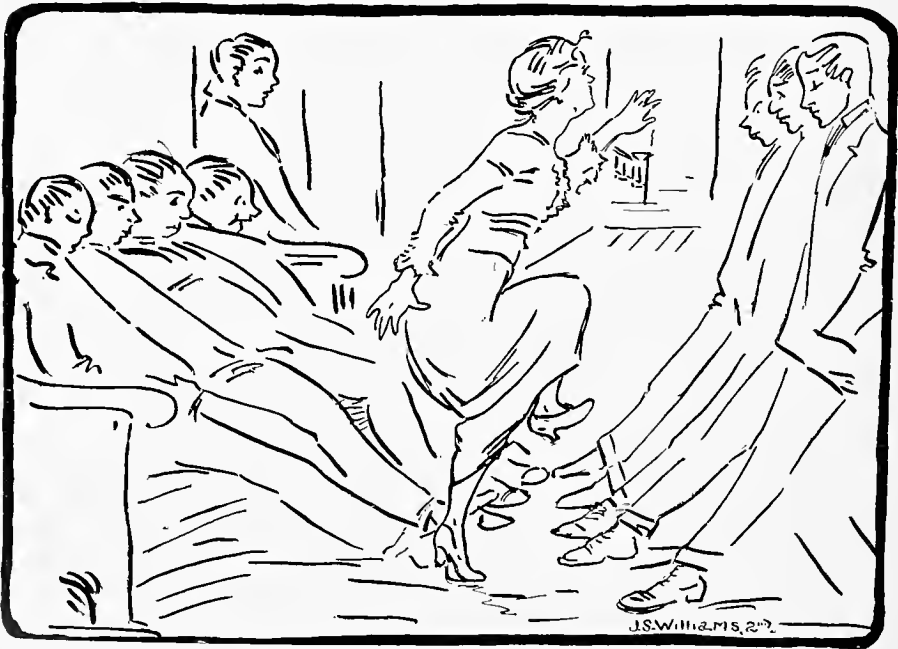

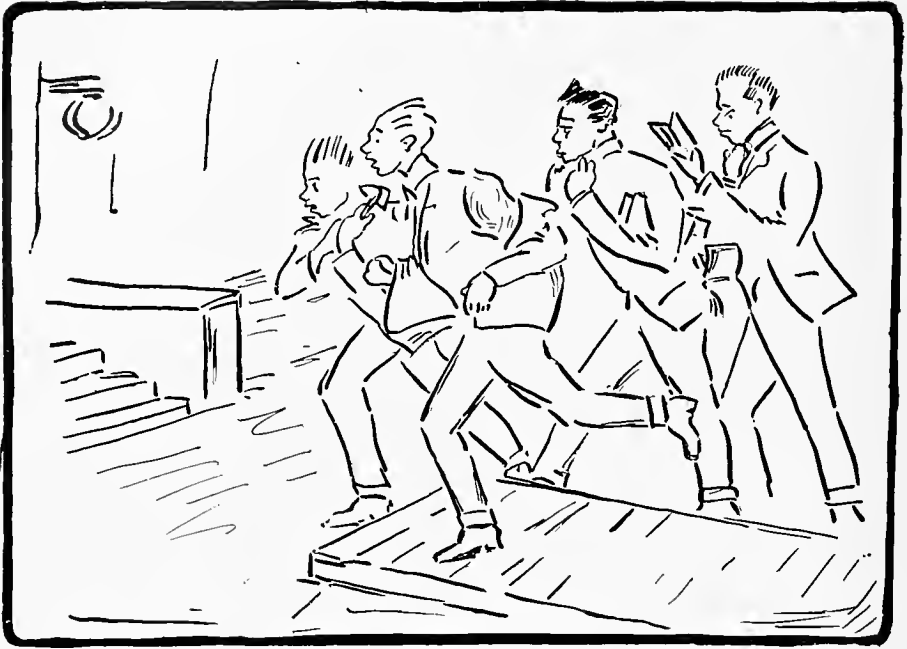

And so in their blindness
But very great kindness
The students have stopped all the fuss,
Just think of the scholars
And also the hollers
That this kindness will bring upon us!

There will be no more Freshmen,
But simply our guests-men!
The new rules are stringent and such
That we may show them the sights
But remember at nights,
They are simply to look at—Don't touch!

Fire!!

Floating kimonas, disheveled hair,

One slipper on, the other foot bare
Sleepy, cranky, feeling bum—

Down the corridor see them come
At an early hour in the morning.

They rub their eyes, they give a yawn,

They wish it were not early dawn
They heave a sigh, they drop a tear

They like to stay in their beds—Oh dear!

At such an early hour in the morning.

Now can you guess what the trouble may be

With these troubled maidens so cross and peeved.

The student Exec with no intentful harm

Had given the word for a fire alarm,—

At such an early hour in the morning.

The Freshman was weary, he would like to know,
Why he was treated and looked down
on so;
"Looked down on," why, yes, but never mind, Fresh,
Next year you'll be privileged to throw out your Chest.

The Sophomore returned, elated was he
To think that he now a "Big Bug"

But nothing he did, did he ever do right
And he envied the Juniors and cursed

A Junior was he, he soon was aware
The joy he expected—a delusion and

He looked for much fun, he was sure it would come
But it didn't—except through the

Proverbs Applied at Swarthmore

We think for angry students, that each professor hath:
The motto that an answer soft, is to turn 'way wrath.
In looking in the mirror please don't get despondent, Don
Remember that an ugly duckling once became a swan.
Oh friends of Miss Grace Schaeffer for her do you wait and wait—
Well, her slogan is: then never it is better to come late.
Soyars, please don't be so noisy for you know the tale goes round:
That the empty vessels are the ones that make the greatest sound.
Matrimonial opportunities in the east are not the best.
Our advice to Edwin Lucas is, "Go West, young man, go West."
We'd like more people like our Joel so gay and never blue,
Who says that if you'll only laugh the world will laugh with you.
To those, who would reform the world, just look before you leap,
Remember, ye who boast so loud, still water runneth deep.

Epilogue

The curtain falls upon our play,
Its last faint echoes die away,
Its actors laugh no more.
Its pictures fade upon your sight
And darkness melts them into night,
The pageant vast is o'er.
We've shown but half there was to see.
Our play's no clever parody,
With ridicule or praise.
We've tried to paint its colors true,
We've tried to show what's dear to you—
—Bring back your HALCYON days.

The Path to Purity

Sharpless Tubular Cream Separators not only extract all cream from milk, but also remove, from both milk and cream, that unwholesome sediment and viscous matter you so dislike to see remaining in your glass. A Tubular opens the path to purity in dairy products.

For One Cow or Many

The superiority of the Tubular is too universally acknowledged to need comment. The low supply can, enclosed self-oiling gears, bottom fed bowl suspended from single frictionless, ball bearing, and the plumb bob attached to rear of frame for leveling machine indicate unrivalled excellence. Made in all sizes. Suitable for one cow or many.
